It will take tremendous demonstration in South Africa or the Orient to divert the attention of the world from Kansas City next week.

The trusts are making it even hard to die. It costs more to turn on the gas, and the ice trust has its say when the undertaker buys his ice.

A MISSOURI boy found a railroad torpedo and hit it with a hatchet. The hatchet has not been recovered and the recovery of the boy is doubtful.

MINISTER CONGEE, it is stated, can speak many of the Chinese dialects. What Americans chiefly desire from him just now is a few words in plain English.

From present appearances in Illinois his resemblance to Lincoln is about all Uncle Shelby Cullom will have left to comfort him after November.—St. Louis Republic.

CHILE is brandishing her fists at both Peru and Bolivia, and has made overtures to Brazil for aid in event of war. Desire for international imbroglio seems to be a fact.

A BALTIMORE exchange vouches for the following list of fatalities among the Boxers in a recent engagement: Wun Lung, Wun Eye, Wun Ear, Wun To, Wun Thum and Wun Tung.

With the single exception of Gen. John Logan dominated by Blaine in 1884, Col. Roosevelt is the only man with a war record ever nominated for vice president by the republican party. The parallel as to Logan will be carried out by Teddy in November, however.

MICH is said about the strengthening of the ticket by Teddy. It is history, however, that McKinley carried New York by 268,469 plurality in 1896, and that in 1898, Mr. Roosevelt, fresh from San Juan hill, with all his military laurels just won, only carried it by a plurality of 17,786. The Rough Rider enthusiasm was of course much stronger then than it is now or will be next November.

DELEGATES-AT-LARGE Cable and Trude to the democratic national convention might reply to Editor Kohlman's query as to whether if the convention adopts a free silver plank, will they swallow it or bolt, by asking him what he proposes to do about the republican national convention's endorsement of the president's Porto Rican tariff plank. The Times-Herald's attitude on the cowardly course of the administration in this respect is familiar to all. Its appeal to "right the wrong or meet defeat in November," is declaration that the policy then being pursued and later upheld in Philadelphia was un-American, a violation of national honor and unworthy of the support of true Americans, will be vividly recalled. Under these well-known circumstances Brother Kohlman will find throwing stones a very dangerous business at this time of the year.

How Roosevelt Was Landed.

The manner in which the "Roosevelt landslide" was generated and engineered and brought to bear for the purpose of landing the bumptious young New Yorker on the Hanna ticket is best shown by the following account of what transpired on the night before the nomination. The description is furnished by the correspondent of the republican Chicago Tribune and must be presumed not to be prejudiced against the success of the Philadelphia ticket. Mr. Hanna was in his headquarters at the Hotel Walton arranging the few remaining details of his convention. He had only to settle the vice presidential contest, so-called, and his work would be finished. He sent for Mr. Dolliver, of Iowa, and crushed that interesting young man's boom between the thumb and forefinger of his doughty right hand. Mr. Dolliver went away properly subdued and abandoned all his ambitions to hold a place on the ticket. Hanna then sent for Gov. Roosevelt, who of course came promptly at call. What happened then is thus described by the Tribune correspondent:

"And now," said Senator Hanna, "will you, Gov. Roosevelt, accept the nomination for vice president?" "At your hands and under the circumstances I will accept it," replied Gov. Roosevelt. "I am always ready to act at the behest of the party, but not at the behest of an individual." Senator Hanna then addressed Gov. Roosevelt in the most friendly terms, the olive branch thus extended was accepted by Gov. Roosevelt, and the two shook hands in the most friendly manner. Senator Hanna then asked Gov. Roosevelt to name the man who should present his name to the convention, and the governor graciously told Mr. Hanna that the honor of making the selection should be his. So ends the political career of an interesting and at one time supposedly forceful "independent in politics." Mark Hanna has swallowed Roosevelt, independence and all, and the ticket is a Hanna ticket at both ends.

That Hanna Trust Plank.

The following is the so-called trust plank framed at the republican convention in Philadelphia:

"We recognize the necessity and propriety of the honest cooperation of capital to meet new business conditions and especially to extend our rapidly increasing foreign trade, but we condemn all conspiracies and combinations intended to restrict business, to create monopolies and to limit production or to control prices, and favor such legislation as will effectively restrain and prevent all such abuses, protect and promote competition and secure the rights of producers, laborers and all who are engaged in industry and commerce."

With this plank the republican campaign managers intend to play upon the credulity of the American people. The full extent of the hypocrisy involved in this attempt to mock the intelligence of the voters with insincere declarations can only be realized when we remember Marcus Aurelius Hanna, LL. D., wrote the important planks of the platform, that he owns and controls the republican party through its machinery, and that this same Hanna has made the following public declarations regarding trusts:

"The English government is as good as one."

"Large combinations of capital have existed for 200 years in England."

"The great commercial success of England has been due to those same trusts."

"Those combinations known as trusts are not a political question at all. They are simply and purely a business question."

"The trusts have the best men in the country at their head. I believe in their organization."

"I think the trusts will result beneficially to the men who work in the factories."

"What harm can the trusts do the people of this country?"

"The formation of trusts is a step forward."

"They are not intended to increase profits, but to reduce cost."

"Trusts! There's no such thing."

"The story that I have defended trusts in any of my speeches is absolutely false."

"The combination of corporations is simply the evolution of business; don't know of a trust in the United States."

"I say they are not trusts. If they are, prove it."

"There is not a trust left in the United States. There never were more than about a half-dozen, and they all have been dissolved and converted into large corporations."

Comment is unnecessary. The intelligence of the American people will brand the declaration of the Hanna platform on trusts.

A Monster Devil Fish

Destroying its victim, is a type of constipation. The power of this maldy is felt on organs, nerves, muscles and brain. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a safe and certain cure. Best in the world for stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Only 25 cents at Hartz & Ullmeyer's drug store.

For two years Ira W. Kelley, of Mansfield, Pa., was in poor health on account of kidney trouble. He consulted several physicians and spent considerable money for medicines without obtaining relief until he tried Foley's Kidney Cure, and now writes: "I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of aiding others." All druggists.

Men may differ on politics, religion or finance, but all who have tried Banner Salve are agreed as to its worth for cuts, burns, sores, piles and skin diseases. It's the most healing medicine in the world. All druggists.

The Democratic Nominees.

Samuel Alschuler, of Aurora, the democratic nominee for governor of Illinois, was born in Chicago on Nov. 20, 1859. Two years later the family moved to Aurora, where his father, Jacob Alschuler, engaged in the mercantile business, and later in the real estate business. Mr. Alschuler received his education in the public schools and the East Aurora high school. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1880. He practiced alone for 10 years, then formed a partnership with John C. Murphy in January, 1890. Mr. Murphy, who was admitted to the bar in 1882, was United States attorney for the territory of North Dakota from 1884 to 1890. Later he returned to Aurora, and subsequently was elected mayor.

Jacob Alschuler, father of the gubernatorial candidate, died four years ago. Mr. Alschuler is unmarried and lives with his mother, an unmarried sister and two brothers, Benjamin P. and George W. Alschuler. They have one of the most beautiful homes in Aurora. Their home life is peculiarly happy. Mr. Alschuler is of a kindly disposition and of a genial, social character. He is a Mason, a Knight of Pythias, a Woodman, and a member of the Loyal Order of the Moose, and the City club, of Aurora.

Mr. Alschuler is an exceedingly approachable man and has the happy faculty of making friends at all times. He is a ready talker, but not of the brilliant, flashy order. He is a plodder and student rather than a meteoric campaign orator. During the two terms Mr. Alschuler served in the general assembly of Illinois he made an enviable record. He studied every proposition of any note that was pending in the general assembly. His was one of the masterful minds on the judiciary and he gave every proposition the same study that he would as if he was preparing the matter for a trial in court. He showed tact in a great many occasions, when he was successful in killing off inimical legislation. He was always with his party on party questions, but aside from propositions of this character, he could always be found endeavoring to ascertain the right involved with a view of acting. Accordingly his time in Springfield was given up almost entirely to a careful study of the legislation before the general assembly.

Mr. Alschuler was a recognized leader in the first session, and during the session of the legislature of a year ago his word carried with it more weight than any other man on his side of the house. His opinions were always listened to. He was not given to speech making except when the exigencies of the case demanded, and he never fought but that he made himself felt. He had a host of friends among the republicans as well as the democrats.

The Chicago Tribune has the following: "Mr. Alschuler is a man of a strong character. He is best known and most popular nearest home. In his law practice he is absolutely free from anything that savors of trickery. He is fair and open, and his known integrity gives him great power before court and jury. This is best demonstrated by the stand he took in the legislature on the Allen law and kindred measures. Mr. Alschuler speaks German fluently. In all things he is an American. He has always been active in democratic politics, and in 1892 he ran for congress in the Eighth district, and, although defeated, for this is one of the strongest republican districts in the United States, ran far ahead of his ticket. In 1896 he was elected to the legislature and was re-elected in 1898. In July, 1893, Gov. Altgeld appointed him member of the court of claims. He is a Jeffersonian democrat, but is liberal and broad-minded in his political views."

Elmer A. Perry, of Mount Sterling, nominee for lieutenant governor, was born in Brown county in 1861. He was educated in the district school and at the Valparaiso, Ind., normal. In 1881 he left school temporarily and taught a couple of years, later returning to Valparaiso, where he graduated in 1884 with honors. He read law with J. M. Rigg, of Winchester, and in 1880 was admitted to the bar. Three years later he became city attorney, and in 1894 was elected to the general assembly. He was re-elected in 1896 and again in 1898. He voted against the Allen bill. He is a Mason and a Knight of Pythias. Like the candidate for governor, Mr. Perry is a bachelor.

James F. O'Donnell, of Bloomington, nominee for secretary of state, was born in Dubuque, Iowa, in 1845. His parents came from the County Donegal, Ireland. When he was 2 years old his family removed to Bloomington. He was educated in the public schools of Bloomington. In 1882 he became a reporter on the Bloomington Bulletin. In 1891 he became the partner of Theodore A. Bradley, proprietor of the Bulletin, and since has been its business manager. In 1895 he was elected by the democrats to the legislature and served two terms, declining a third term. He has taken an active part in every campaign since 1888, touring the state in 1896. He is unmarried and lives with his father.

Millard F. Dunlap, of Jacksonville, nominee for state treasurer, was born in Morgan county, Ill., in 1860. His boyhood was passed on his father's farm near Jacksonville, and he was educated in the schools of that city. In 1890 he founded the banking house of Dunlap, Russell & Co., of Jacksonville.
